32C3 - Gated Communities

The 32nd Chaos Communication Congress (32C3) is an annual four-day conference on technology, society and utopia. The Congress offers lectures and workshops and various events on a multitude of topics including (but not limited to) information technology and generally a critical-creative attitude towards technology and the discussion about the effects of technological advances on society.

Congress Everywhere

Hackers all over the world are organizing events to bring the congress closer to home – Congress Everywhere: Allow those unable to attend the Congress in Hamburg to celebrate their own Hackcenter experience, watch the streams, participate via twitter or chats, drink Tschunk, cook and have a good time.
