Aftermath CNPD Meeting

A lot of time has been put by us in this very first official meeting with the new CNPD administration. An hour and a half is not that much time, to explain 6 years of work to 4 people, but luckily we were offered some more meetings in 2015.

It was one of the most constructive assemblies I've ever had with an official administration; no barriers, friendliness, information exchange on both sides and knowing to be heard.

The moment we stepped out of the building, we all did a big whoop of joy and called it a day. ;)

Keep yourself up2date on this blog to see what we're up to!
